2. (Cont'd) I delivered to Sourwine classified biographic report prepared by Biographic Register on [] Sourwine's first reaction was he had seen this same report but without the classification. On further examination, however, he found that while the classified report started the same as the other one, he received, it contained considerable additional information.

3. ([] - GLC) I met briefly with Marjorie Carpenter, Personal Secretary to Senator Thomas J. Dodd, to determine whether the Senator might be able to meet with the Director in Langley next Tuesday, 3 April. Miss Carpenter said that Senator Dodd was most reluctant to leave the immediate area of Capitol Hill since he once missed a roll call vote because of such an absence. Miss Carpenter asked if Mr. McCone came up to the hill very often. I mentioned that he would be up before the Senate Space Committee tomorrow in connection with confirmation hearings for General Carter but it developed that Senator Dodd was involved in a committee hearing in the morning. It was agreed that we would check further for a possibility of either having Mr. McCone visit Senator Dodd on the hill or have the Senator meet with him at South building.
